from www.traditionalmusic.co.uk

C

Up on the mountain my Lord spoke,

G7 C

Out of His mouth came fire and smoke.

Am

Looked all around me, it looked so fine,

G7 C

I asked the Lord could it be mine.

Chorus:

C7 F F#dim C

Well every time I feel the spirit,

A7 D7 G C

Moving in my heart, I will pray,

C7 F C

Yes every time I feel the spirit

A7 D7 G7 C

Moving in my heart I will pray.

Oh, I have sorrows and I have woe,

And I have heart-ache here below;

But while God leads me, I'll never fear,

For I am sheltered by His care.

Ev'ry Time I Feel the Spirit Gwendolin Sims Warren, 2002 Clavier, 1984 Christian Herald, 1971 Feelin Bettina Judd, 2022-12-15. How creativity makes its way through feeling and what we can know and feel through the artistic work of Black women. Feeling is not feelin. As the poet, artist, and scholar Bettina Judd argues, feelin in African American Vernacular English is how Black women artists approach and produce knowledge as sensation, internal and complex, entangled with pleasure, pain, anger, and joy, and manifesting artistic production itself as the meaning of the work. Through interviews, close readings, and archival research, Judd draws on the fields of affect studies and Black studies to analyze the creative processes and contributions of Black women from poet Lucille Clifton and musician Avery Sunshine to visual artists Betye Saar, Joyce J. Scott, and Deana Lawson. Feelin: Creative Practice, Pleasure, and Black Feminist Thought makes a bold and vital intervention in critical theory's trend toward disembodiment of feeling as knowledge. Instead, Judd revitalizes current debates in Black studies about the concept of the human and about Black life by considering how discourses on emotion as they are explored by Black women artists offer alternatives to the concept of the human. Judd expands the notions of Black women's pleasure politics in Black feminist studies that include the erotic, the sexual, the painful, the joyful, the shameful, and the sensations and emotions that yet have no name. In its richly multidisciplinary approach, Feelin calls for the development of research methods that acknowledge creative and emotionally rigorous work as productive by incorporating visual art, narrative, and poetry. The First 20 Hours Josh Kaufman, 2013-06-13. Forget the 10,000-hour rule: what if it's possible to learn the basics of any new skill in 20 hours or less? Take a moment to consider how many things you want to learn to do. What's on your list? What's holding you back from getting started? Are you worried about the time and effort it takes to acquire new skills, time you don't have and effort you can't spare? Research suggests it takes 10,000 hours to develop a new skill. In this nonstop world, when will you ever find that much time and energy? To make matters worse, the early hours of practicing something new are always the most frustrating. That's why it's difficult to learn how to speak a new language, play an instrument, hit a golf ball, or shoot great photos. It's so much easier to watch TV or surf the web. In The First 20 Hours, Josh Kaufman offers a systematic approach to rapid skill acquisition: how to learn any new skill as quickly as possible His method shows you how to deconstruct complex skills maximize productive practice and remove common learning barriers By completing just 20 hours of focused deliberate practice you'll go from knowing absolutely nothing to performing noticeably well Kaufman personally field tested the methods in this book You'll have a front row seat as he develops a personal yoga practice writes his own web based computer programs teaches himself to touch type on a nonstandard keyboard explores the oldest and most complex board game in history picks up the ukulele and learns how to windsurf Here are a few of the simple techniques he teaches Define your target performance level Figure out what your desired level of skill looks like what you're trying to achieve and what you'll be able to do when you're done The more specific the better Deconstruct the skill Most of the things we think of as skills are actually bundles of smaller subskills If you break down the subcomponents it's easier to figure out which ones are most important and practice those first Eliminate barriers to practice Removing common distractions and unnecessary effort makes it much easier to sit down and focus on deliberate practice Create fast feedback loops Getting accurate real time information about how well you're performing during practice makes it much easier to improve Whether you want to paint a portrait launch a start up fly an airplane or juggle flaming chain saws The First 20 Hours will help you pick up the basics of any skill in record time and have more fun along the way Involvement with Music Alfred Balkin, Jack A.
